

YOU COULD BE A LIFE SAVER

Organ
Donation

The law around organ donation has changed to help save more lives.

Organ donation law in Northern Ireland has changed to an opt-out system. 'Daithí's Law' means in the event that organ donation is a possibility after you die, unless you choose to opt out, or are in an excluded group, you will be considered as a potential organ donor.

Find out more at organdonationni.info

